WCSCO Makes Arrest in Theft of Packages in Fernvale

The Williamson County Sheriff's Office has arrested a Nashville man in connection to the theft of packages from the porches and mailboxes of homes within the Fernvale community. The packages had been delivered to several homes via UPS, FED-EX and the US Postal Service. The WCSCO began its investigation about a week before Christmas after receiving the reported thefts.

During the course of the investigation, WCSCO Criminal Investigators received information from residents in Fernvale that led to a possible suspect, Jackie Cross, 23. Cross was located and arrested on unrelated charges in Nashville, TN by the Metro Nashville Police Department. Several of the packages reported stolen from Williamson County were recovered when Cross was arrested.

Cross is charged with four counts of theft of property. He's scheduled to be in General Sessions Court today. The investigation is ongoing and additional charges may be filed.
